Amber Nicole Dilger has been performing professionally throughout the United States since 1995 in musical theatre and concert productions both large and small. From classics like "Camelot," and "The Sound of Music," to newly created productions like the one-woman musical, "Arlington," she shines on stage bringing real human depth to characters of every kind. Equally at home in intimate concert settings, the standards of the Great American Songbook are ones she loves to share. Amber Nicole is a licensed music educator and has a strong interest in helping those with performance anxiety learn to work with their fears and share their message with confidence. She teaches group classes and individual lessons in her Cary, North Carolina studio as well as online. In her free time, she enjoys doting on her dog and cat and spending time in nature. She is a member of Actors' Equity Association and the National Association of Teachers of Singing. Discover more, including information about her CD, "Swim Kiss," at www.AmberNicoleDilger.com.
